

What are your triggers for poor choices?

What would you prefer to do instead when those triggers occur?

What are your triggers for healthy choices?

How could you focus on creating more healthy choices through feeling good?

What do you LOVE to do daily / weekly that makes you feel good? (anything at all)
How can you do that more to maximise your self-care and healthy good feelings?
